Obituary.

Died, January 4th, 1900, at her home, near Viborg, S. D., Mrs. Marin Petrine Christensen Frederickson, wife of L. C. Frederickson, in the 58th year of her age. She had for years been a sufferer from diabetes, and while it was known to her friends that her health was undermined, her death came as a surprise to those who hoped she might still be spared to us, for perhaps many years. A cold contracted during the severe weather of the last few days, carried her away after an illness of only a couple of days.

Mrs. Frederickson was born in Denmark November 8, 1842, was married to L. C. Frederickson December 28, 1863, and emigrated to America in 1870, living at Racine, Wis., four years, when the family removed to Daneville, Turner County, Dakota Territory, where she has resided ever since, meeting with all the vicissitudes and struggles incident to building a home in a new and unsettled country, which only those who have had actual experience can appreciate. Kind hearted, hospitable, generous, one of those truly good women, whom to know is to love. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her, but most of all by the husband, whom she leaves to a lonely old age, and the children, though they have reached maturity, still looked to mother for advice and help in every emergency.

She leaves a husband and four children—three sons and a daughter, the oldest son, N. P. Frederickson, being married and settled near home. The others still reside in the pleasant home which has been the result of years of patient labor. At the time of her death her husband and son, Myron, were absent on a visit to Denmark, and the sad news will reach them as a rude interuption of their pleasant trip.

The funeral services took place at the Baptist church near Viborg at 12 o'clock last Sunday, Rev. Anderson preaching the funeral sermon, after which the interment took place in the Baptist cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

To the many friends who have so kindly assisted in the last illness of our mother, Mrs. L. C. Frederickson, we return our heartfelt thanks,

The Husband and Children.
