Rev. Harald Ibsen Dies Suddenly

The Rev. Harald Ibsen, former pastor of Our Savior's Church here, died while visiting in Nebraska last Thursday, June 15. In poor health for a number of years, he had been living in retirement at Clinton, Iowa. Pastor and Mrs. Ibsen were on a vacation trip, visiting at another former parish at Marquette, Nebraska, when he suddenly became sick and died soon afterward at a Central City, Nebr., hospital. They had planned to visit Viborg this week. Funeral services were held at St. John Lutheran Church near Marquette with burial at the cemetery there. The Sunday morning service at Our Savior's in Viborg was conducted in memory of Pastor Ibsen.

Harald Ibsen was pastor at Our Savior's Church in Viborg from 1948 to 1960. He was the first pastor to live in the present parsonage. He came here from Kimballton, Iowa, and in 1960 moved to the parish at Marquette, Nebr.
