Senior Candida Speak For Themselves!

Seniors Face The Future

May 20 was a sunny day in the lives of the H.H.S. seniors for two reasons. It was a beautiful day so the commencement exercises could again be held in the park, and it was also a symbol that they had finally reached their long-term goal of graduation. Wearing their chosen colors of black and silver, the class of 1984 was led to the bandstand by the Junior escorts, and each received a white rose, their class flower. The message of the day was delivered by Dr. Del Dearborn from the Agricultural department at S.D.S.U.

Don't miss Label Curtlines

Last Will And Testament Of The Class Of 1984

I, JUDITH BENSON, will my misunderstood nickname, "DINGY" to Jim Jones in hope that he can fit the name better than I. I will my crowded spot in the mile to Paula Georgeson in hopes that she can come closer to the record than I did.

I, NAN CHRISTENSEN, will my quality car, Ronald, to Sue Petersen because she likes it better than I do. I also will #44 to Sheila Woodward, my legs to "shrimpo" Jodi Homan, and my ability to run standing up to Dale Schempp.

I, LORA DUXBURY, will my Sweetheart crown to the next Sweetheart Ball queen. I will Reynold, my trusty trombone, to Sheila Woodward & Keith Nelson in the hope that between the two of them they can figure out how it works. I also will Melvin-the-Monza to Randy Weier so he can say he owns a real high performance machine for a change.

I, GLORIA FALCONER, will Shawn Brandsrud the gasoline to make trips to Lennox and Sioux Falls College, and also the ability to see any person as they really are, not what they put off on everyone.

I, CHARLES HAGENBUCH, will my "stash" to Jody Schroedermeier and my locker to the person smart enough to get it. I will my improved welding ability to Jason Schroedermeier.

I, GARY HEIDELBERGER, will my enjoyable weekends to Curt Mikkelsen and also to Curt goes my ever-present SKOAL.

I, FRANK HEIRIGS, will my nationally known T-shirt collection including my "Bad Cat, Mad Dog, and my "That's a Croc" shirts to Dale, since he needs all the help he can get when it comes to dressing himself.

I, JOHN JACOBSON, will my tedious track managing job to anyone who enjoys spending every spare moment with a stopwatch. I will my yellow beast, which pretends to be a car, to the lucky towtruck owner that can get it off my property.

I, KRISTY JOHNSON, would like to will my height to Paula Georgeson in hopes that it will make her high jumping attempts a little more successful. I also will my strength and ability to take good care of myself in any given situation to Laurie Heirigs.

I, JEFF KNOCK, will my first trumpet part to Ricky Heidelberger and my excellent hitting ability in football to Paul Rayburn. I also will the Nova to Mike DeNeui, since a couple more dents couldn't hurt.

I, JEFF NESS, will my Sweetheart crown to the next Sweetheart Ball king. I will my good looks to Dale Schempp so he can find some good looking women.

I, LISA OLESEN, will my Homecoming crown to the next Homecoming queen. I also will my ability to stay out of trouble to Robin Homan, my ability to mop up the floor with my body to the Homan sisters, and my quality car, George, to Jodi and Dorothy.

I, SHARI SPOMER, will my long legs to Jody Schroedermeier in hopes that some day he can run as fast as I can. Also, I will my ability to sing to Jodi and Robin Homan in hopes that Mrs. B. will let them stay in chorus.

I, JERRY WIRTH, will my Homecoming crown to the next Homecoming king, and my ability to get to school on time to anyone who likes to sprint from the parking lot to the Government room.

We, THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1984, will locker #16 to next year's seniors in the hope that they will carry on the tradition of having sneaky munchy attacks right under Mr. Plahn's nose.

Class Prophecy

The date is May 20th, 1994. Today you find me, Lora Duxbury, general manager of the "Hurley Rastro's" baseball team and test driver for the "Mud Lake Monza Division" of General Motors, flying back into my hometown of Hurley after a long promotional tour. As my plane is touching down at the Hurley Municipal Airport I realize that it has been exactly ten years since the great class of 1984 graduated from Hurley High.

Hoping to catch up on some of the local news, I pick up a paper as I'm passing through the airport. The front page headline immediately catches my eye. The eyes of the world are on Hurley, for tonight is the night of the big title fight between Sugar Ray Leonard and "Kissable" Kristi Johnson. The fight is to be held in "Goose's All Night Gym and Delicatessen" which is owned and operated by my former classmate, Lisa Olesen and features hot toddies. Turning the page of my paper, I am delighted to find my favorite advice column, "Dear Nan Landers". Very few people know that this world-famous columnist was also a Hurley graduate of 1984.

As my limousine is passing through Hurley's ample business district the first place I pass is "Heidelberger's Insurance Agency and Rent-A-Car Shop". Since no one else would sell Gary a policy, Gary started this handy little corporation with the motto "You Rent-We Dent".

Right next door is "Buddy's Body Shop and SKOAL Factory". Naturally, the head of the Most Improved Welding Department is Charles Hagenbuch. The welding is, of course, only a hobby of Chuck's due to the fact that he devotes most of his time to managing his universal chair of "Stash's International Harvester" dealerships.

The next block contains the "Jacobson Medical Building" run by well known obstetrician, John Jacobson. He refers all of his patients to the "Lee Maternity Shop" run by classmate Shari Spomer. It features her line of popular Lee maternity jeans.

After getting home, I am just in time to catch my favorite outdoor sports show featuring pro-bird watcher, Jerry Wirth in his quest for the perfect Robin. The fishing section of the show is hosted by BIG bass fisher Frank Heirigs, who is rafting down the Amazon. The Muppet Show comes on next with its dazzling new star, Judith Benson. Judith took over after the retirement of Miss Piggy and vacations on her hog farm near Hurley.

It is almost time for the big fight and as I'm hurrying up to the gym, I run into Gloria Falconer. She is now the mayor of Lennox, S.D. We are chatting over old times when who should appear but big name farmer, Jeff Ness. He has become quite successful since he purchased what used to be Viborg, S.D., to turn into his pig operation. He is quite normal in spite of his success except for the fact that he gets the urge to turn into Dracula at the first sign of Dawn.

As I watched Kristi claim her title it occurred to me that the class of 1984 had indeed proven to be the finest class ever to graduate from Hurley High.

Juniors Find Answers

As the Juniors took one more step upward they found their high school days very busy. Not only did they have sports and music to occupy their time, but they also had other important individual decisions to make. "What are you doing your term paper on?", "Should I go out for the play?", "What colors should we use for prom?", "Have you made the Honor Roll this quarter?", and "When are you taking your ACT test?" were common conversational items. As usual, this class was able to pull themselves through a variety of problems. Now the one hurdle left to accomplish is their Senior year!

1. After the F.H.A. pancake supper, the faculty and Seniors entertained the crowd with a basketball contest. Serving as the trustworthy referees were L to R: Kelly Jorgensen, Philip Wirth, and Jason Schroedermeier. 2. Dale Schempp munches out on food again.

The Sophomores became "part of the crowd," as they entered their second year of high school. Their days were filled with a variety of activities ranging from academics to athletics. The Sophomores did lots of wild and crazy things this year. After shopping for their uniforms, the prom waiters and waitresses visited the zoo, and cruised used car lots. Among other activities, the Sophomores received a first on their homecoming skit, and also sanded the graffiti off the library book shelves. By coming prepared with kleenexes the Sophomores survived their daily first hour class. With a little luck this group of ambitious kids will continue their good work as Juniors.

I guess we don't take time to think about the value of friends.

We take them for granted, assume that they will always be there.

And when they're gone we wonder why we never told them how wonderful they were.

Joan was such a person.

She shared herself, her time, her love and her friendship with others.

We didn't always appreciate her kindness or help her to achieve her dreams.

Now we can't tell her how sorry we are.

The memories we hold and cherish of her will remain with us always.

God must have a need for a special person like Joan.

She will live in our minds, in our hearts, and in heaven ... forever.

Freshmen Enjoy Year

The Freshman began an enjoyable year as they became active in many classes. This year they had the opportunity to choose the classes that they wanted to take. However, some of their classes were required, such as Algebra I, English I, and P.E. The whole year wasn't all books and no play. Some of the students participated in Swing Choir, Jazz Band, Basketball and Football. This energetic group even managed to survive various types of initiations, including a rather drafty jog around the park for the F.H.A. girls. It was all part of being in high school.

8th Graders Step Up

Taking another step upward on the educational ladder, the eighth graders were to undergo even more new challenges. Added to their regular everyday studies, a variety of activities rounded out the spare hours and used up excess energy. Sports played a big part in their extra-curricular schedule, along with music, declam and cheerleading. Anticipating the good times high school promises, this group of fourteen made the most of their last year in junior high.

Class Makes Move

With the addition of two students, the class of '89^x grew to fourteen. The giant leap from sixth grade to junior high challenged the kids with different responsibilities, which included moving from room to room on time with the bell, taking on several different teachers, and experiencing the great horror of their first Homecoming float. The kids were encouraged to join many different activities.

Coronation Eve Holds Memories

Coronation marked the beginning of two days filled with excitement. The stage bloomed with color, as the Student Council decorated it in shades of blue with a touch of white. The ladies of the court acquainted the audience with each of the candidates by telling about their accomplishments during high school. The chorus sang "Through the Eyes of Love" to add to the ceremony. The evening was highlighted with the crowning of the 1983-84 Royalty, Lisa Olesen and Jerry Wirth. After coronation, the pep rally was held with introductions, speeches, and class skits. The final event of the night was the annual burning of the "H", which fired everyone up for the big Homecoming game.

1. Laura Hummel and Ryan Trombak were chosen by the student council out of the first grade class to be small fry for the coronation ceremonies. 2. The Ladies of the Court were (l to r) Cheryl Ness, Christe Bright, Jackie Georgeson, and Queena Lamb. These girls were chosen by their classmates to introduce each of the candidates to the audience. 3. The Junior Escorts were (clockwise, l to r) Robin Homan, Bryan Knock, Kelly Jorgensen, and Dawn Smidt. 4. Adding a touch of drama to the ceremony were the swordsmen. Homecoming Week Filled With Excitement

Sunny, warm weather added to the excitement of Homecoming Week. The classes were busy making floats to associate with the chosen theme of "video games", and the business people decorated their windows in the same fashion. It was a very busy week for everyone involved. The parade was a giant success as bands, floats, royalty, and many community entries took part. The juniors and the eighth graders took first place in each of their divisions with their floats. This fun-filled week also got everybody fired up for the annual Homecoming football game that Friday night. With everyone sharing in the work and the fun, this Homecoming was made a special one for all.

Romance Fills The Air

After two postponements because of snowy weather, the Sweetheart Ball was finally held on March 3rd. Mrs. Meyer and the FHA girls planned the evening carefully. The pink, red, and white decorations added to the romantic atmosphere in the gymnasium. The theme chosen was "When I'm With You" and the music was provided by Jensen Music.

The highlight of this annual event was the crowning of the 1984 Royalty, Lora Duxbury and Jeff Ness. Also making this night special were the candlecarriers and the presence of the 1983 Royalty, Sheila Weier and Kevin Smidt. Overall the night was filled with dancing and excitement and it will be an event that the students at Hurley High will long remember.

1. Queen Lora and King Jeff share a dance after the crowning. 2. Candidates: back row- Jeff Ness, Jeff Knock, Frank Heirigs. Front row- Lora Duxbury, Shari Spomer, Kristy Johnson. 3. Juniors Succeed With "Up Where We Belong"

The Juniors chose "Up Where We Belong" as their theme to make yet another successful prom. Decorated in shades of blue, the gym took on a romantic atmosphere, making it an enjoyable evening for all. The Junior mothers prepared a meal of broasted chicken, baked potatoes, corn, buns, salad bar, and apple pie ala mode. The Sophomore waiters and waitresses served this meal and also put on a skit. Miss Beers, a former band director, gave a speech on the qualities of friendship. Seniors Shari Spomer and Jeff Knock sang the theme song, which highlighted the evening. The music for the dance was provided by Outlaw Fever. The Juniors' hard work had really paid off as Prom 1984 ended on a beautiful night. Opinion?

Seniors Present 'The Ratcatcher's Daughter'

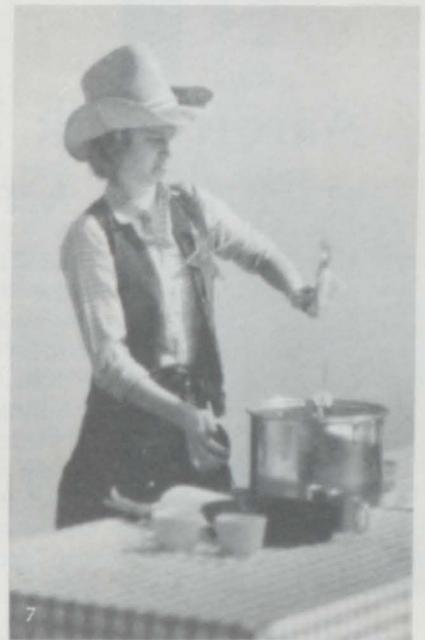

The stage was set on March 29 for the seniors to give their final production as high school students by presenting "The Ratcatcher's Daughter." Their director, Mrs. Aeschlimann, provided the students with help and expertise in portraying each of their roles. This melodrama is set in an orphanage in Death Valley, California. The action takes place when Sweet Lotta Bliss from London is reunited with her sweetheart. After a weekend of schemes, fights, parties, and finally a wedding, Lotta finds that her future holds some propositions and surprises, as she has inherited a small fortune she never knew existed!

Lavinia Lagoon preaches "Down with demon rum," as January is obviously uninterested.

Aaron Slick From Punkin' Crick

Everything from roadtrips and Bandits to the flu and Polish poker tried to hamper the production of the play, but it didn't discourage any of the juniors. Mrs. Aeschlimann corralled them for a few short practices before the curtain rose at 7:30 p.m. on January 16th. Many were thinking that the show, where Mrs. Berry couldn't decide to sell her farm to Wilbur Merridew without asking Aaron Slick first, would not go on. After selling her farm that supposedly had oil on it, she moved to the city where her situation worsened. Aaron Slick saves the day by asking Rosa to be his wife.

1. As Wilbur Merridew is trying to pull one over on Mrs. Berry, Aaron and Gladys help discuss the terms of the contract. 2. Mary as Sis Riggs is talking to the not so green Mr. Green. 3. Jazz Band Invades Minneapolis

Under the direction of their new director, Al Dayton, the jazz band spent the year working on various fund raising projects. On May 11 their goal was realized as the jazz band and chorus set off for Minneapolis. The seemingly endless bus ride gave everyone a chance to get rested up for the big weekend. Upon arrival at the Radisson, everyone got to put in a little swimming time. Saturday the groups performed and on Sunday they wandered around Valley Fair.

Puttin' On The Ritz

The Swing Choir was busy this year "Puttin' On The Ritz" and getting ready for their big trip to Minneapolis. The girls had four special boys that they tried to impress by singing "Hey, Big Spender!" But the guys had money on their minds so the girls woefully sang "What I Did For Love" and "Broken Hearted Me." As soon as the girls got to Minneapolis they saw there were other fish in the ocean so they started singing, "Pick Yourself Up, Dust Yourself Off, and Start All Over Again." The girls had lots of fun showing off their new purple vests and top hats which made them look really sharp. Opinion?

TWS

Well, none of these kids are Boy George of Culture Club or Michael Jackson, but they sure had fun trying. Under Mr. Dayton, the band made a very good showing at the contest in the spring and had fun the rest of the year. Under leadership of Mrs. B. the chorus even managed to dance to some of their music to form a swing choir which will get them into practice for their high school swing choir careers. Just think, we may even have a future "Solid Gold" dancer on our hands. 6?

Both the Pep-club and H-club did a super fine job of promoting school spirit and pride this year. The Pep-club exercised their vocal enthusiasm at the games and even managed to increase in volume when the games got close! They displayed their spirit by starting the trend of face painting for games. The Pep-club also sold spirit buttons throughout the year and helium balloons at the Homecoming football game to get everyone fired up. Once again the H-club constructed the Homecoming "H". These students also hosted the second annual athletic awards banquet in May, at which athletes received the honors they have earned.

The year was a very busy one in the library at Hurley, with the organization of the non-fiction books well under way. The library aides of next year will have a big job dropped on them with the same operation in the fiction area. This is just one of the jobs the library aides did throughout the year.

Be specific - How many books did they put on the shelves in a typical week? semester? How many books were added? How many magazines does library have?

"Smoke" was the key word for the FHA girls this year, especially in the eyes and noses of the people that attended the FHA pancake supper! The proceeds from this endeavor, plus profits made by selling balloons at Homecoming, enabled the group to finance an extremely successful Sweetheart Ball. The initiation of the freshman members in the fall was another time for fun as the girls endured a rather unusual jog around the park. Seven girls participated in High School level oral interpretation this year. The declam program was well supported in junior high with many young participants speaking up.

Bulldogs End Season With Pride ? opinion (5)

The Bulldogs struggled at the beginning of the season, but came back explosively as they ended their season with a 13-9 record. This year's team was led by Co-Captains Lisa Olesen and Nancy Christensen. Players awarded with honors were Robin Homan — All Conference, Lisa Olesen and Nancy Christensen — Honorable Mention, Robin Homan — Most Improved and Most Valuable Player, and Lisa Olesen — Hustler Award. The seniors played a very important role on the team as they contributed their experience and leadership.

Boys Tackle Another Season

big move in heads. (see pp 6 #11 in handbook)

The Bulldogs, after many tough practices, won their first game of the season. After that they fought hard, but ended their season with a 1-7 record. The co-captains Jerry Wirth and Jeff Ness, and three other seniors led the Bulldogs, assisted by nine returning juniors, two sophomores, and three freshman. Points were scored in every game and the defense became much stronger. Even though no snow covered the field during the season, the games were played in bitter cold temperatures. This never slowed the boys or clouded their enthusiasm. They came out game after game to put up a fight. With the outcome of this season, next season looks much more promising.

Bulldogs Work To Excel

This year's Bulldogs started out the season on the right foot with a new coach and new ideas. Getting off to an impressive start, Hurley ruled over Menno in the season opener that brought the fans to their feet. This game set the pace for a greatly improved and exciting season as many games proved to be fights to the finish and were won or lost in the final seconds! The B-team also had a season of steady improvement. A new incentive for the guys this year was having the games televised over cable channels.

2. B-Team: Top Row- Coach Don Plahn, Travis Hansen, Mike Smith, Jamie Boomgarden, Brian Andersen, Jason Schroedermeier, Manager Raye Sherard. Bottom Row- Rod Anderson, Mark Stacey, Tim Leber, Donovan Hansen, Tim Spomer, Mike DeNeui.

Selected for All Conference team this year was Jerry W. 6. Jamie B. makes a power move to the hoop. 7. Philip W. goes over the top of the defense for a layup. 8. Kelly J. glides through the air for two points. 9. Jeff N. leaves the huddle at the start of the game.

Enthusiasm Is The Key 2nd line of lead is much too short!

There was a great change in the cheerleading liveliness this year, as they were much greater in number. The girls basketball cheerleaders were greatly appreciated by the players because the team really noticed the support they had been missing in former years. The Pep Club purchased new sweat suits for the football cheerleaders to help them survive those freezing fall games. All of these dedicated girls brought the Pep Club to their feet and motivated them to support their Bulldogs through a season of close and exciting games.

Good headline for it adds information & identifies the sport

Because of the unsatisfactory weather conditions the track teams were unable to practice on the track and many track meets were cancelled. Junior High Athletes Improve

The 5th through 8th grade athletes had a good year as they won many basketball and football games and placed at the track meets they attended. They gained much experience and learned how to play as a team and also competed individually. Some of these talented kids even proved to be valuable assets to the varsity squads. This helped them to develop skills that they will use in the future. These various activities were coached by Dean Christensen, Karen Bossman, and Steve Janssen.

Girls Spread Spirit

There was plenty of interest in cheerleading this year where the grade school girls were concerned. Almost everyone in grades five through eight participated in this extra-curricular activity geared toward motivating the boys basketball players to victory. Another all important job for these girls was to keep the crowd in anticipation and encourage them to the excitement level the cheerleaders were on. With the help of their advisors, Connie McGinnis and Jan Tiede, the girls experimented with many new ideas and gained valuable experience for their future years in cheerleading.

Superior Athletes Capture Honors

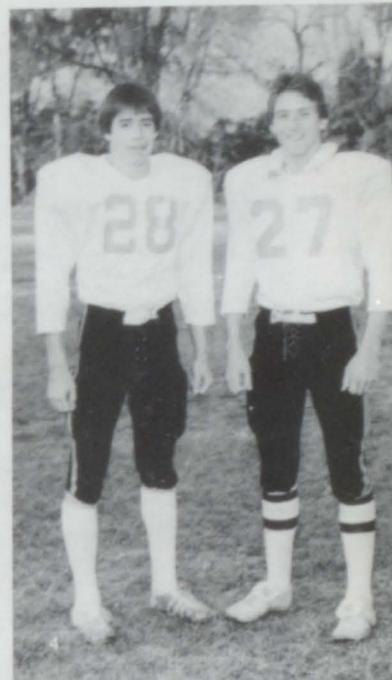

At Hurley, athletics play an important role in the routine of things. They not only add variety to the schedule, but also help the participants develop skills in areas of teamwork, sportsmanship and discipline. Throughout the year several students were recognized for their leadership skills, achievements or abilities. These individuals were honored at the second annual awards banquet.

Teachers Survive Year!

1. Karol Aeschlimann has been kept busy teaching four classes of high school English, speech, and serving as coach for the junior and senior class plays. She was also a senior class advisor. 2. A new face on the faculty this year was Al Dayton. The high school and grade school bands were under his direction. He was a seventh grade class advisor. The annual staff made good use of his hobby, photography, as he took many photos for our publication. 3. The industrial arts classes are taught by Tom Christiansen. He teaches seventh grade math and is a junior advisor. Mr. Christiansen also insulated the shop room himself and helped with other projects in the building. 4. Bill Eichel was the new head boys basketball coach for Hurley School. He received his degree at Sioux Falls College and proved to be a valuable addition to the staff. 5. Loretta Trenerry taught Spanish this year, a class that had been dormant since 1978. Besides that she was kept busy with seventh and eighth grade English, the library, and she served as advisor to the annual staff and the eighth grade. 6. Marlys Bergjord directed the vocal and grade music. She taught the seventh grade reading class. The freshman class made her Homecoming special this year as she served as their advisor.

1. Dean Christensen spent most of his time this year teaching the social science classes. He also kept busy on the sports scene as he was head coach for girls basketball and track, and fifth through eighth grade boys basketball. 2. Shirlyn Christensen taught all the science classes as well as being an advisor to the Pep club, cheerleaders, and the Sophomore class. 3. The business teacher this year was Brad Preheim as he taught Typing I and II, Accounting I and II, general business, and Freshman and Senior computer. He was also advisor for paper staff, annual staff and the junior class. 4. All the mathematics classes this year were taught by Karen Bossman. She was the assistant coach for girls basketball and track, and was head coach for seventh and eighth grade girls basketball. She is also advisor for the Sophomores. 5. The home economic classes this year were taught by Lavonne Meyer. She served as an advisor to the cheerleaders, Pep club, FHA, and the freshman class.

K-6 Teachers Enjoy Students

1. Diane Degroot taught the Kindergartners and tried her best to prepare them for twelve more years at Hurley school. 2. Teaching the active first grade was Jean Lounsbury. 3. Kelly Preheim, a newcomer to the Hurley staff, taught the second grade. 4. Beverly Spomer spent her school days teaching the third grade. 5. Teaching the fourth grade class for her fifth year was Connie McGinnis. She was also one of the grade cheerleader advisors. 6. Janice Tiede taught the fifth grade and also advised the grade cheerleaders. 7. Steve Janssen only spent half days in the sixth grade classroom this year. The rest of his day was spent teaching the grade P.E. classes. He was head coach for football, seventh and eighth grade football and track. 8. Sharing the day with Mr. Jansen in teaching the sixth grade was Gayle Halverson. In the mornings, she taught the Chapter I classes. 9. Linda Fansin was in her second year of teaching special education. 10. Our speech therapist is Mrs. Perschong. She was assigned to our school from the Corn Belt Co-op.

Cooperation Is The Key

A smooth running school system depends on several factors. Perhaps the most important of these is the relationship between staff and student body. There are many people who help in the decision making process at Hurley School. The most familiar and the most fun for the students is the Student Council. This organization consists of representatives from each high school class. Homecoming activities are planned and supervised by them, as well as the Christmas program, which consisted of a movie and volleyball tournament. The well-being of the students is considered carefully before any decisions are made regarding them.

Staff Organizes System

One of the key elements of the school is the support staff. Each of these great people devote his or her time to keep the school clean and well organized. The bus drivers provide safe transportation to and from school, and the cooks prepare nutritious meals every day. Betty Eidem has served as Business Manager here at the school for 18 years. Larry and Cheryl Ness do an excellent job of keeping our building and grounds neat and clean. We can be very proud of the job they do. Their services are greatly appreciated by everyone.
