Sarah Edna Georgeson

Sarah Edna Henderson Georgeson was born in Winnebago county, Wisconsin, on May 30th, 1851 and died at her home in Spring Valley township, Turner county, S. D., on Thursday Dec. 21st, of asthma (of which she has been a sufferer for good many years) and cancer.

An operation for cancer was performed last spring and it was thought at that time that all the roots had been secured, but such was not the case and about three months ago another cancer appeared from which she suffered until the death angel claimed her last Thursday.

Mrs. Georgeson was a Christian woman of lovable disposition and during her illness was patient sufferer.

Believing good of everybody and ill of nobody, she made a host of friends and if every person to whom she has done a kind act could place a flower upon her grave she would sleep beneath a bed a roses.

Mrs. Georgeson and her husband were pioneers of Dakota, coming here in the spring of 1885.

With a gentleness that betokened her disposition she set about helping her husband to acquire a home in this western country, thus proving herself the loving wife and mother that she was. And they have since resided on the homestead they took up at that time.

She was united in marriage to Geo. Georgeson on August 16th, 1874 and to this union was born eight children

She leaves to mourn her death, Thomas, Elmer, Andrew, Clarence, Mrs. Fred Flyger, Mrs. Peter Richter Mrs. Andrew Hansen and Mrs. Juel Fastrup, also a loving husband and at aged mother and a brother who resides in Arizona.

Services were held at the Methodist church in Hurley and interment was made at that place.

The Enterprise extend sympathy to the bereaved family in their hour of sorrow.

Safely, safely gathered in,
Far from sorrow, far from sin,
For the life so bright and fair,
Now hath passed from earthly care,
God himself the soul will keep.
Giving his beloved sleep.

And soon will sleeps mantle spread
O'e'r us,
And we up above shall rejoice,
We'll see her sweet face then before us
And listen again to her voice,
Where never a grief has invaded,
Where never has entered a pain,
When earth from our spirit has faded
We'll be with our loved one again.

—Mrs. A. W. Georgeson.
