Bulldogs . . . And Proud Of It!

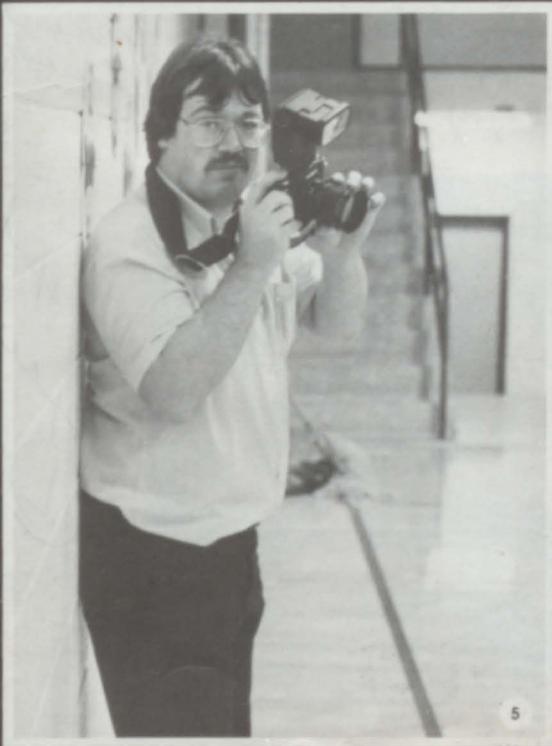

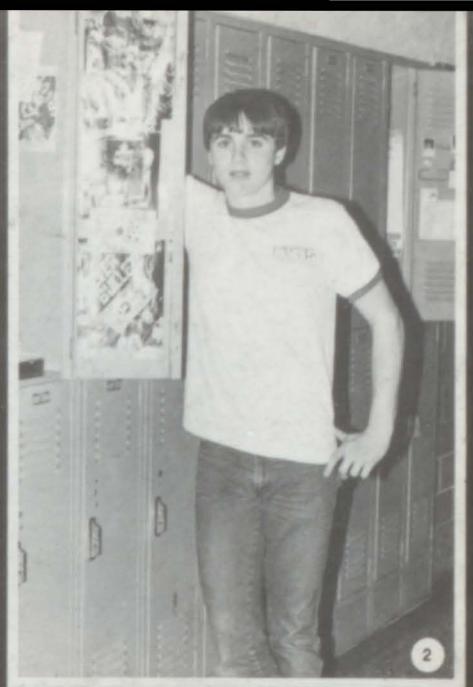

Striving for goals and doing their best, Hurley students found these things important as they showed the pride they felt in their school and its activities. Pride has often gone unnoticed in past years at Hurley. But this year everything seemed to fall into place. Triumph ruled over defeat in many aspects of the school year. Sports played a big part in the pride reflected by everyone. The goals and outlooks of the athletes changed, and with their determination, they proved what they could do. It showed in the football season as the boys won half their games, an event that hasn't happened in over five years. The basketball and track seasons also excelled as the special talents of the athletes were brought out. Volleyball was added to the sports curriculum, and the eagerness of the girls to participate showed the desire to make it work. Organizations and clubs also helped to make this year a success. Groups such as the swing choir, the pep club, and the cheerleaders held many important fund-raisers throughout the year. The FHA held the annual Sweetheart Ball, and the Student Council sponsored the Senior vs. Faculty basketball game. The Board of Education dedicated the school's new shop to our shop teacher of 13 years, Tom Christiansen. Hurley also took first place at the business skills contest for the fourth year in a row.

Student life and community support were two other factors that helped make this year one of a kind. The students worked together all year long to make their school the best. The community and student spirit shown at school events brought out Hurley's special uniqueness. The teachers also did their part in making each day count and helping students reach goals. Effort was put forth and pride was reborn. We are the Bulldogs . . .
AND PROUD OF IT!!!

Seniors Are The Future

Sunday, May 19 was the date that the Seniors had waited for for 13 years. What a perfect day it was, with mild temps and a big bright sun. The commencement exercises were held in the park, and this was the day they had reached the goal they had worked so hard for. In their chosen colors of dark blue and white, the class of 1985 was escorted to the bandstand by the junior escorts and were presented with a white rose. Herb Bowden, President of Sencore Corp., addressed the seniors, giving them advice on the future.

1. Valedictorian Philip Wirth gives his farewell speech about friendship. 2. Salutatorian Brian Andersen talks about reaching goals in his speech. 3. The chorus sings "Like An Eagle" to the seniors and the guests. 4. Some of the parents and friends go through the reception line. 5. Juniors Steph Lange and Randy Weier carried the class flower and gave one to each Senior.

Will and Prophecy Class of 1985

The date is May 19, 1995. Today you find me, Christe Bright President of "Sniffy" cat products flying back to my home town of Hurley after a world wide promotional tour. As I land at the Hurley International Airport I meet my very good friend Robin Wirth as she was also returning from her newly acquired business "Chippindales" of California. She then reminded me that it had been 10 years since the fabulous class of 1985 graduated from Hurley High.

As Robin and I are sitting in Jason Schroedermeier's "All Night at the Roxy" Movie Theatre and Malt Shoppe, Jason was filling us in on all the news and telling us what everybody had been doing.

First he tells us about the recent scandal about the Hurley State Bank being robbed by computer embezzlement. Of course the first person who comes into our minds is Brian "Skin" Andersen. He is being held at the local jail without bail by Sheriff Sheldon "Shootin' Sal" Hovaldt. Next Robin and I decide we need a car to get around in and Jason refers us to another classmate of ours, Mary Flyger, who owns the local rent-a-car dealership. She tells us if anything goes wrong with the car during our stay to take it to the "Fix A Heap" garage owned and operated by Curt Mikkelsen and Bryan Knock, who specialize in Bobcats and Novas.

As Robin and I are driving around the big metropolis of Hurley (which used to be our favorite thing to do) we see a new fashion company opening up on Main Street. It features the Schenk & Sheidt clothing line modeled by Debbie Schenk and designed by Cheryl Sheidt, two more of our classmates from Hurley.

As we are driving along we happened to get lost on one of the side streets and we stumbled upon the University of Hurley, which is deaned by another of our classmates, Dean Philip Wirth, who also is the professor of agriculture.

Since everybody is in Hurley at this time Robin and I decide to have a class reunion. We set out to find Dawn "Sky" Ness only to find she is the starting forward on the Hurley Women's professional basketball team. The Hurley 5'ers are coached by the honorable Joe Morris. Dawn suggests that for our reunion we get everybody to gether and replay the awesome Seniors vs. Faculty basketball game. We will need equipment for our game so we make tracks down to the "Smacks Jorgensen Sporting Goods" store to pick up some jerseys for the game. Right next to the sporting goods store we find Dale Schempp running "Leo Land", the local computer store. We then get a Betamax video machine to tape our big game ahead of us.

After the game, which we won of course, as Robin and I were going to our planes we met up with the only one who couldn't be at our game because he was just returning from being the gold medal winner in Pole Vaulting in the Olympics, Jody Schroedermeier. As we were telling him about the game we all decided that the class of 1985 had indeed proven to be the best class ever to graduate from Hurley High.

I, Brian Andersen, will my sweetheart crown to the next sweetheart king. I will my ability to fix computers to Loren Roth in hopes that someday he gets in trouble again.

I, Christe Bright, will my ability to type to Jodi Homan and Roger Dumont. My sometimes faithful car "Mumford" to Dorothy Kluckman, my ability to stay out of mud to Randy Weier. I will my ability to play basketball from the bench to Jackie Georgeson, and my cat "Sniffy" and ability to keep Mrs. Bergjord calm during grade school concerts to Sue Petersen.

I, Mary Flyger, will my ability to discipline myself in chorus to Donnie Jager.

I, Robin Homan, will my homecoming crown to the next homecoming queen, my school parking ability to Jamie Boomgarden, my speed of flight driving ability and steady nerves to anyone who likes to sleep late in the morning. I will my car to my favorite sister, Jodi.

I, Sheldon Hovaldt, will my height to Mark Bungler, and my football hitting ability to Loren Roth in hopes he will be able to hit as hard as I did.

I, Kelly Jorgensen, will my quarterback position to Howard Georgeon in hopes that someday he can make some 'fantastic finishes' too. And to Jimmy Jager, my ears in hopes that someday he will find them useful to listen in class with.

I, Bryan Knock, will my homecoming crown to the next homecoming king, my good taste in cars to Raye Sherard, and my ability to make big mistakes to Jamie Boomgarden.

I, Curt Mikkelsen, will my ability to stay out of fights to Greg Johnson, my new track warm-up to any freshman, and also the Bobcat to anyone who likes power and rust.

I, Cheryl Ness, will my typing ability to Bridget McClaren in hopes that she will learn how to type better than I. I also will my after school job to anyone crazy enough to take it. Lastly I will my Nova to my little brother James in hopes that someday he can be just like Eddie Murphy.

I, Dale Schempp, will my ability to tease the babes to Jamie Boomgarden in hopes that he can make their junior year as rough as I made their sophomore year.

I, Jason Schroedermeier, will my ability to cook to Darlene and my ability to chase women at the drive-in to Duane Falconer.

I, Jody Schroedermeier, will my football specs to Travis Hansen in hopes he can run and hit as hard as I can. I will my pole-vault ability to Hudley Koerner. Also I will my food critic ability to Jamie Boomgarden so he can keep Darlene on top of things next year.

I, Dawn Smidt, will my volleyball serving ability to Tammy Adrian in hopes that someday she can be as good as I was. I also will my ability to tell myself apart from my sister to the Woodward twins.

I, Debbie Smidt, will my sweetheart crown to the next sweetheart queen, and also my Camaro to Raye Sherard and hope that someday he realizes the true meaning of a car.

I, Philip Wirth, being of unsound mind and body leave nothing to will because I plan to devise a way to take it all with me.

We the Senior Class will all our talents, abilities and studliness to anyone who is classy enough to deserve them. And also room number 48 at the Sunset Motel to the next class of Seniors who get the opportunity to attend State B's and to the next senior class our ability to lose our privileges.

Juniors Move Up

who says
The junior year is called the hardest, yet the most fun, time of high school. These ambitious kids entered the year ready for anything. Something new was going to Viborg for chemistry in the first semester. About half of the junior class along with Tom Christiansen took the fun bus ride down south for what they called "the toughest class anyone could take"

editorializing
The juniors were VERY busy. They were involved in many activities. Among these were football, basketball, volleyball, cheerleading, and track. Besides sports, they also took part in annual and paper staff, FHA, student council, and pep club.

One of their major accomplishments of the year was presenting a Junior Class Play. Mrs. Aeschlimann worked hard and the kids put in many long hours of practice. But it all paid off as they put on an excellent performance. Prom was also a memorable time for these juniors. They made it a prom that would not soon be forgotten. They all had a great time building the gym. They learned that with togetherness and cooperation, they could get a lot done. They made the most of their junior year, as they realized there was only one year left of fun times at HHS.

Sophomores Add Pizzazz

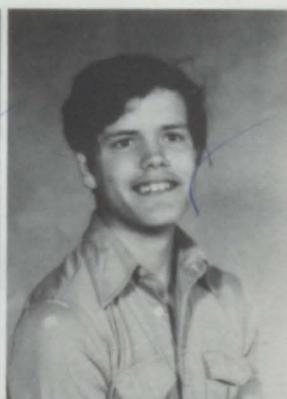

This year the sophomores started the year out with fourteen enthusiastic students. The year was full of surprises. At the start of school they received a new student from Wood, Roger Dumont. Also with the new addition to the class they said farewell to an old friend, Tom Overby. These ambitious students directed their energy towards many extra-curricular activities. These sophomores also had their share of academics with the addition of two-hour block classes, biology first semester and geometry second semester. Some people would think that two hours of a class would be tedious but this class kept classtime alive with their original personalities. They also received the pleasant experience of being prom waiters and waitresses. Along with this came the traditional group trip to Sioux Falls to get matching outfits and have even more fun for the year. The sophomores discovered neon clothing and decided to brighten up everyone's day, or at least those willing to look at the bright colors!

Freshmen Add Excitement

The freshmen found out the first year in high school is a time for learning how to fit in. They also added style to the high school in their own wild and crazy ways.

The students were kept busy trying to find time for fun between their many classes and activities. Being freshmen provided an opportunity to go to the dances such as Homecoming and Sweetheart Ball. Sweetheart Ball also offered the chance of being candle carriers, while Homecoming selected the swordsmen and a lady of the court.

Three boys added spark to the FHA and the home ec. department. In home ec., they were taught how to cook along with the girls.

The class was increased during the year with two new students, Patty Nelson and Catherine Dumont, known as Kay Kay to her friends.

Movin' On

Entering their last year of Junior High, the 8th grade found themselves juggling a busy schedule. Holding down 5 classes a day, this exuberant class kept the teachers on their toes, and everyone's day interesting! With the absence of Jim Jones, and new arrival of Cindy McClaren, the group still keeps their number at an even 14. Extra activities such as basketball, cheerleading, track, declam, and swing choir, kept the 8th graders extremely occupied all through the year. Much talent was shown in the many areas of sports, as many of the kids excelled in basketball and track. With a new and fascinating idea of what lies ahead, the oldest class in Junior High prepared themselves to face the world of high school.

The 7th grade led a very active junior high year. Holding down 5 classes is a tough job! Many of the kids participated and excelled in extra ^{activities} such as basketball, band, cheerleading, and track. The class lost Billy Mews and Jeremy Jacobson, lowering the number to 13. When asked, the class said the highlight of the year was building their first homecoming float because they got 1st place in their division.

Teachers Lead Students

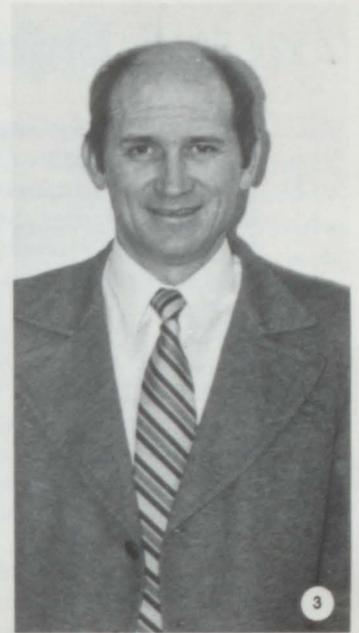

1. Kent Wolford, a welcome addition to the high school staff spent the majority of his time teaching social sciences. The rest of his busy schedule consisted of being assistant coach for the boys basketball team. He was also head coach for fifth through eighth grade boys basketball. He also advised the Sophomores. 2. Lavonne Meyer was kept busy by advising the cheerleaders, FHA, pep club and the Freshman class. She also was the teacher of all the home economic classes. 3. Karen Bossman has experienced a very interesting year. Volleyball was her big project by teaching the girls the ropes. Among her other activities she was head girls basketball coach and head girls track coach. She taught most math classes and advised the Sophomores, cheerleaders, pep club and H-club. 4. Tom Christiansen enjoyed teaching all industrial art classes in the new shop that was built. This shop was dedicated to Mr. Christiansen on September 29, 1984. 5. As Karol Aeschlimann's second year here, she kept busy by teaching all high school English classes, supervising plays and declam. She also was a Senior class advisor. 6. Al Dayton directed the high school and grade school bands. He was also an eighth grade advisor.

Students Lead

The relationship between student and administration is of utmost importance. There are many people within the walls of Hurley school that make that relationship possible. The most popular and most familiar to the student body is the student council. Representatives from each class make up this special group. Homecoming activities are planned and supervised by them, as well as the Christmas program which consisted of a movie and a volleyball tournament. New things were done by the council this year in hopes that these things will carry on.

2. School Board: Jim Reiners, Pete Boomgarden, Keith Bagley, Jim Georgeson, Supt. David Wrotenbery, Don Benson, Betty Eidem. 3. Principal Don Plahn teaches eighth grade social studies and is the guidance counselor for Hurley school. He also advises the Student Council. 4. Superintendent David Wrotenbery serves as elementary principal.

The Staff Helps Out

Helping your school run smoothly plays a major role in these people's lives. Betty Eidem is kept busy maintaining all of the school's records and keeping track of almost anything anyone needs. Other people that play an important role are Larry, Judy, and Cheryl Ness. As custodians of the school, they take care of whatever crisis arises during the day. Darlene Schissel, head cook with the help of Thelma Mikkelsen cooks meals, which are delicious and nutritious for all the students. Busing kids to and from school is a job for another group of people who help our school system. The bus drivers are a group of hard-working men without whom we could not manage.

1. Donald Jorgensen, Marly Gerdes, and Nobel Jensen are the 3 bus drivers. 2. Larry, Judy, and Cheryl Ness help keep the school clean. 3. Business Manager Betty Eidem. 4. Darlene Schissel and Thelma Mikkelsen are the two cooks of Hurley High.

Coronation Leaves Shining Memories

The setting was a beautiful array of purple, lavender, and white streamers and stairsteps. The event was Coronation '84-'85. Held on the cool, crisp night of September 13th, suspense and excitement filled the air. As the evening started, each of the candidates was introduced and the audience was told of their activities throughout high school. The climax of the night was the crowning of the new Homecoming Royalty, Robin Homan and Bryan Knock. After the ceremony, a pep rally was held to get everybody's spirit soaring for the big football game. Skits were performed, introductions of teams made, and inspirational speeches given. To conclude a most memorable evening, everyone gathered outside for the traditional burning of the "H".

The Good Times Go On

Good times! Excitement! Fun! That's what Homecoming week is all about - and the Hurley students made the most of it. The Student Council was busy decorating the stage for coronation and the classes put in their time building floats. The FHA sponsored such days as camouflage day and punk day. The whole town got involved in the annual parade, which was filled with bands, floats, and community entries. At the close of the week was the big football game against the Viborg Vikings, followed by the Homecoming dance held in the gym. By that time everybody was worn out from the long week, but everyone agreed that it was well worth it!

How do computers and hearts go together? The students of Hurley High found a way. With the help of Mr. Preheim and the Apple computers, a computer dating program was set up to add spark to the Sweetheart Ball. Each person who participated danced with their three top matches that the computer picked for them. All who were involved thought it was fun and wanted to do it again in the future.

What is the theme

"ALL I NEED" is Prom 1985

The time: Saturday, April 27. The setting: A beautiful, pastel gym. The event: Prom 1985! Every person had their own private dream about what this night would be like. When the night finally arrived, everyone's dreams were fulfilled. The junior mothers prepared a delicious meal for the banquet, which was followed by the dance, with the exceptional music of IMAGE. The juniors worked hard to make a prom that everybody would enjoy. After seeing the finished product and experiencing Prom '85, everyone agreed that this evening would be hard to surpass.

Juniors Present The Nervous Wreck

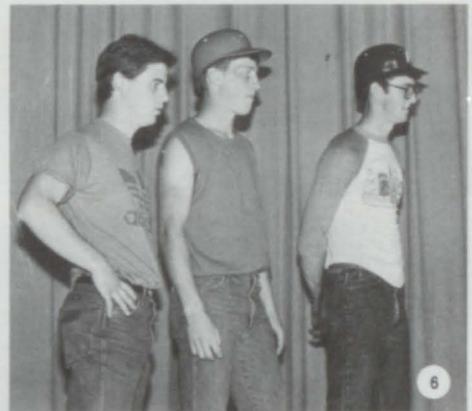

The year 1985, and the scene was a small hotel lobby in a small midwestern town, and the plot: 3 wishes and a magical ring. Twelve juniors under the direction of Mrs. Aeschlimann made their theatrical debut in the play "The Nervous Wreck".

1. Jimmie Wasburn (Raye Sherard) discusses his dilemma with Mr. Burr, with Alice and her mother. 2. Linda and Jamie negotiate over the price of the magic ring. 3. The awesome cast of "The Nervous Wreck". 4. Cinny (Steph) and Alice (Sue) fight over the magic prospects of the ring. 5. Tilday Mae, the maid, prepares to wake a fainted Mrs. Higgins with ammonia. 6. As Althea Coldwater's true identity is revealed, Bud Hicks pulls a gun to protect himself. 7. Randy panics as he sees the size of the crowd in the gym.

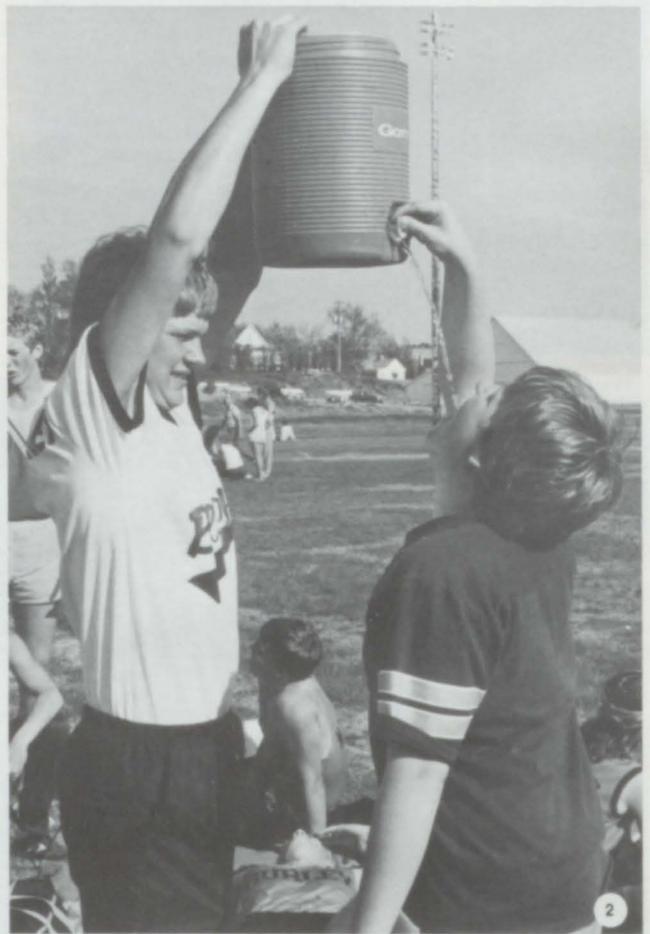

Seniors Present Two Plays

Attention!!! The senior class play was held on Sunday the 21st and it consisted of 2 one-act plays, "Amy Goes Army" and "Three on a Bench". Due to a shortage of actors and actresses a junior was brought in to play a small part in "Amy Goes Army". The two plays were quite a success and Mrs. Aeschlimann was very proud of her group. Over all everyone (audience, actors, and actresses) enjoyed themselves and had a lot of fun.

1. Jody S. is sure to catch everything on film during the play. 2. Christe and Brian A. discuss the true meaning of life. 3. Cheryl is hiding because she thinks Brian is a MP. 4. Steph guest stars to help fulfill the cast. 5. Christe gets in trouble for deserting her post. 6. Are these three really going to join the army? 7. Christe gives advice to Phil and Cheryl as they are having pre-marital problems.

A Look Into Student Life

1. The senior boys try their hand at cheerleading. 2. The Chad Boomgarden water fountain was popular at the track meets. 3. We finally found them working. 4. This sure beats study hall, doesn't it Jodi? 5. Mr. Winegar shows off the inside of a pig.

Girls Stay Determined

The Bulldogs went through a rebuilding year this past season. Four year letterman Robin Homan missed the first 15 games with a broken leg. Her pride and determination helped us all when spirits were low. Senior letterman Christie Bright helped out game after game. Her experience and leadership helped on the floor and in practices. The girls had a rough year with injuries and the change in coaches. The girls kept their heads high and went to the districts under the coaching of Miss Bossman, who coached the girls to a 3rd place finish. Players that were awarded for their efforts were Sheila Woodward - All Conference and Most Valuable, Jody Kaarup - Honorable Mention, Jodi Homan - Hustler, and Dorothy Kluckman - Most Improved. The girls are looking forward to next year with enthusiasm and regaining their dominance in District 22.

BOYS BELIEVE IN THEMSELVES

After a streak of defeats over the past years, the Hurley Bulldogs, under new coach Terry Winegar, discovered that dreams can come true. United by a positive attitude, school spirit, and determination, the football team landed a 4-4 record at the close of the season. The team, led by co-captains Kelly Jorgensen and Bryan Knock, along with seven other seniors, 1 junior, 5 sophomores and 3 freshmen, really came together, and it showed in the way they played. They increased the number of touchdowns, tackles and yards as each game went by. Two players, senior Curt Mikkelsen and junior Loren Roth, received the Coca-Cola Unsung Hero Award for their gallant effort. The strength and pride was reflected in every player as each one gave it his all. Even when the going got rough, the power of this team never gave up. The tremendous improvement of the team also sparked the enthusiasm and support from the crowd and fans.

Boys Season A Success

Seven senior boys led the Bulldogs in their best season since 1972. Coached by Bill Eichel and assisted by Kent Wolford, the boys basketball team drew a large crowd at every game. They placed second in the Tri-Valley Conference Tournament and third overall in the Conference. They worked hard and kept their heads high. Their spirit and determination paid off as they ended the season with a 12-8 record. Receiving Most Valuable Player awards were Kelly Jorgensen and Phil Wirth. Jamie Boomgarden received Defensive Player award, and Jody Schroedermeier was awarded Hustler. Kelly and Phil were also honored with All-Conference, while Jody and Bryan Knock were awarded All-Conference Honorable Mention.

Volleyball Spirit Catches On!

The girls experienced something new this year by participating in volleyball. For the first year eighteen girls showed up for this exciting new sport, including three seniors. They had ten regular season matches and three matches during the region tournament. The region tournament took place at Viborg, where the girls brought home third place. Four awards were given out this year. The serving award was presented to Dawn Smidt and the setter award went to Sue Petersen. The hustler award was given to Jody Kaarup and the most valuable player award went to Robin Homan. Even though it was their first year the community and fans showed much support and many comments were made on how well the girls played.

1. The team supports Sue as she gets ready for another exciting match. 2. Jody K. flies through the air to smash the ball. 3. Christie saves the ball by bumping it to set up a spike. 4. Robin and Christie anxiously await the serve.

Dorothy blocks the ball to foil Viborg's plan of a spike. 3. Jodi and her awesome serve. 4. Dawn serves for a game point.

Runners Gain Experience

Cross Country started out with "sincere" enthusiasm from the junior high runners and had three freshmen join the team. The team felt the loss of Jody Kaarup when injuries kept her from running. The determined members kept spirits up and learned sportsmanship endurance and learned that it pays to keep on trying when things got tough.

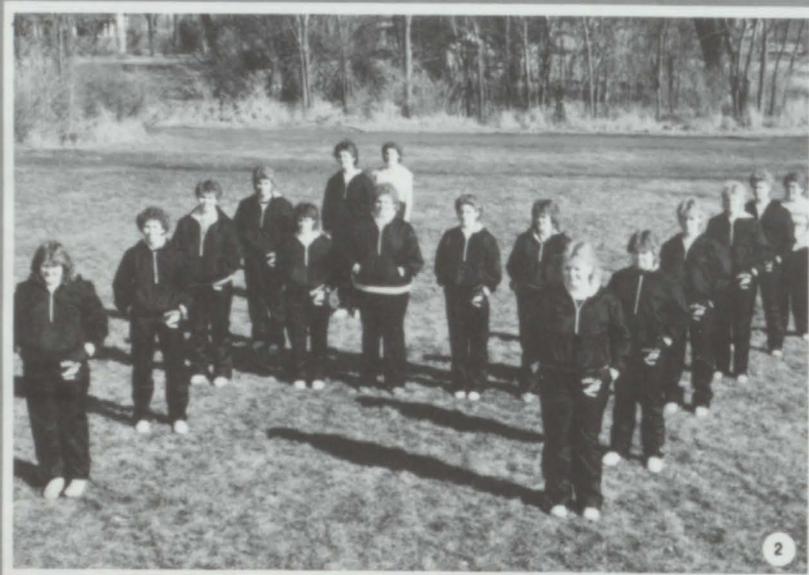

5. First row: Todd Spomer, Jody Kaarup, Chad Ness, Howard Georgeson, Paul Rayburn, Tim Johnson, Coach

Track Season Goes By Fast

On the windiest, coldest, warmest and stillest days the Hurley tracksters were either at a meet or practicing for a meet. Both teams had an outstanding season. Robin H., Jodi H., Steph P., Sue P., Jill O., Jody K., Jason S., Jamie B., Travis H., Jody S., Dale S., and Kelly J., attended the state track meet with the girls placing 6th in the medley relay. Everyone had a fun and memorable track season.

Cheerleaders Attend Clinic

On a brisk September Saturday, 10 excited cheerleaders set off for USD to attend a cheerleading clinic. The cheerleaders had quite an experience learning new cheers, chants, and a routine to use throughout the upcoming sports seasons. The boys basketball squads sported new uniforms to brighten the crowd spirits and cheer on another winning season.

Enthusiasm Is Contagious

The 1984-85 cheerleading season had 13 experienced girls cheering our future star athletes on to victory. The girls gained valuable experience in crowd control and spreading excitement to the fans. They were a fired-up bunch of girls who guided our boys to a successful season.

Athletes Excel

The junior high athletic program excelled this year with many students taking part. The girls under Coach Bossman had an excellent year in basketball. The boys learned the "real" game of basketball and the sportsmanship that comes with the game. They all had the pleasure of running a few extra miles in order to make the track team. This group of athletes gained valuable experience this year and learned how to discipline themselves so they could achieve their goals they had set for themselves.

Athletes Honored For Talent

Athletics are an important part of life at Hurley High. Through sports the students learn sportsmanship, develop skills, and are part of a team. Sports also provided a break in the routine schedule and gave the students a chance to get involved in something other than academics. Several talented athletes were rewarded for their leadership and ability. They received their awards at the Athletic Banquet held in May.

Organizations

Talented Musicians Excel

The 84-85 Hurley High band was composed of 25 talented members. The band participated by marching in Hurley's, Viborg's, and Parker's homecoming parades. The band also boosted the spirits of Hurley fans by playing during games.

Chosen this year to represent Hurley at the Augustana Band Festival were Jackie Georgeson on the oboe and Paula Georgeson on the alto sax.

The Jazz band competed in the USD Jazz Festival in March. In this competition they received a rating of III.

1. Mr. Dayton directs as Jackie, Rod, Howard, and Paul follow. 2. The band accompanies the seniors to the stage on graduation. 3. Tammy waits for the homecoming parade to start. 4. Loren, Rod, and Sheila concentrate on playing their music perfectly.

Chorus Is Making Notes

After last year's big trip to the Twin Cities and Valleyfair, the chorus calmed down a bit and went back to the regular routine. Directed by Mrs. Bergjord, the chorus put on a pops concert, as well as a Christmas program. They also sang at Homecoming, graduation, and at contest.

What's More American Than Swing Choir

The red, white, and blue and Uncle Sam were the main themes that the swing choir centered around. This colorful group sang at contests and at school concerts. Dressed in patriotic colors, these girls sang about the proudness of being an American, and also asked the question, "What's More American?"

1. Jackie salutes America, or is she really saluting Mrs. Bergjord? 2. The swing choir takes it at a slower pace and sings that they're "Proud To Be An American". 3. What's more American than football? Hikel 4. Sheila and Linda snap to the beat and try to remember the next verse.

Future Musicians

Under the direction of Mrs. Bergjord, the jr. high students were very busy enhancing their "acting careers" this past year. The crowd at the concert was very enthused with their performance of "Tom Sawyer." Much talent was displayed by these young students.

The fifth and sixth grade band put on an excellent performance for the festive crowd at the Christmas concert. They gained valuable experience and confidence performing before a very appreciative audience.

Extra! Extra!

Read All About It

The ambitious and hardworking paper staff consisted of five energetic students. During the year, Sue Petersen, editor, kept the staff busy writing articles on grade news, special events and senior interviews. This diligent group kept us entertained in the weekly edition of the "Bulldog Barker".

The other group who works equally hard is the delightful dozen on the yearbook staff. During the course of the year they chose to change companies in order to improve the yearbook and received it earlier. They also put much effort into selling raffle tickets, yearbook ads, and also the yearbooks in order to raise money for the much needed extra pages in the yearbook. These students used their time and abilities to make the Hurkota an enjoyable yearbook for every student to look back on for memories.

Clubs Grow In Size

The FHA organization had a very successful year. Everybody could be seen wearing the "Hurley Bulldog" shirts that the FHA sold for a fund raiser. Six girls attended the State Convention held in Sioux Falls where five superiors and one excellent were taken home.

The H-Club worked very hard on building the "H". Their efforts paid off as the "H" was burned on a beautiful night. Held in the spring was the 3rd annual athletic banquet awarding the students for their accomplishments and honors earned during the year.

The Pep Club was in great spirits this year supporting the Bulldog teams. With all the spirit in the air, the Bulldog teams worked hard to please the supporting fans.

Students Keep Busy

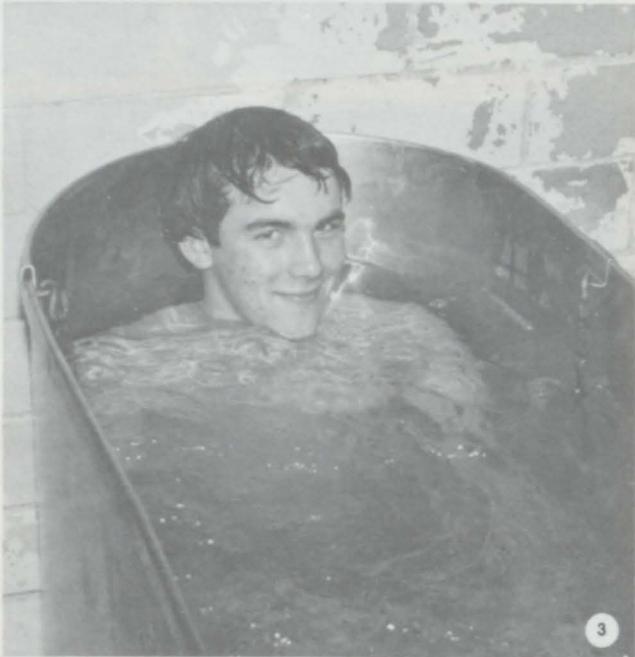

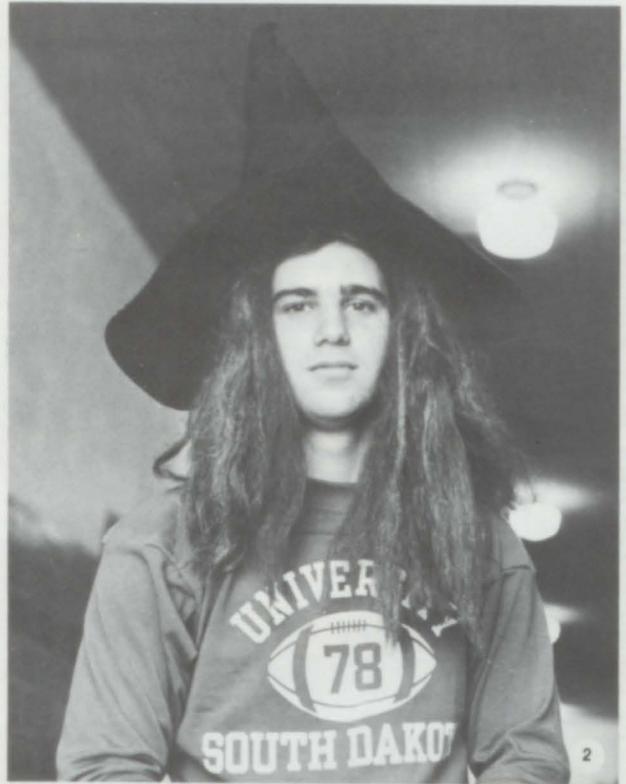

Books, magazines, newspapers - It seemed like everywhere we looked there was someone busy using the library facilities. In addition to helping the high school students do research for term papers or use the library for personal use, the library aides were also busy teaching the grade school students how to use the library. With all the use the library was getting, the library aides were kept extremely busy putting books, magazines and newspapers in their proper order. At the end of the year they also took on the grueling task of inventory.

The declam team was made up of eight excited and talented girls. All of these girls competed in a local contest and Laura, Dorothy and Jackie advanced to the regional level in Freeman. All three placed well.

Students Face Challenges

Such a big building with so many people and places to go for the kindergarteners. These young people found it to be interesting and each day held some new adventure to be explored. At the end of the year, graduation day arrived, all classmates were nervous as they went forward to receive their diplomas that would officially enter them into the first grade.

The 1st and 2nd graders also learned many new things. They held many fun memories of the circus and they also took field trips. The trips were to the S. Falls fire station, which they found very exciting and to McKenna hospital, which they found educational. The second graders got their first taste of computer this year also. At the end of the year, everyone was happy to be moving upward and onward in Hurley school.

3rd and 4th Excel

The third and fourth graders learned a great deal this year. They were entertained with a visit from Dr. Wood, a professor from USD. He has traveled to Africa four times learning about their lifestyles. Dr. Wood taught the students about the activities of the children from Africa. They found that Africa was similar to the United States in many aspects. The third grade learned how to write in cursive after much practice. Both of the classes enjoyed the trip to the circus, seeing the many trained animals. When the year ended this group took with them many fun memories and were ready to face the challenge of next year.

5th and 6th Grade Face Challenges

The fifth and sixth graders were a very busy bunch of young people this year. The fifth grade, with the help of the sixth grade became very involved with new things, for example, basketball and cheer-leading. Band was also another new thing for the fifth grade. Both classes did a lot of reading this year with the weekly book report. This group also attended the circus with the rest of the grades, and enjoyed it just as much as other years. The sixth graders tried something new this year by stepping into their teachers shoes by tutoring the first graders in the afternoons. With this they learned how their own teacher felt and they also got to spend some time with the younger class. At the end of the year the sixth grade was looking forward to the excitement of the future and the fifth graders were looking forward to moving upstairs.

Helping To Build Pride

The Hurkota staff chose the theme "Bulldogs . . . And Proud Of It" for a reason. The 1984-85 school year was special in many ways, but one fact stood above the rest. The pride of Hurley High had grown and spread throughout the student body, the faculty, and the community. Our theme reflects this pride and the feelings of everyone involved with HHS. We were excited about changing yearbook companies this past year and worked hard to make this the best annual ever. We carefully chose pictures and wrote copy to fit in with the theme. We have captured the highlights of '84-'85 in this book. It is our hope that you appreciate the work put into it, and enjoy the memories of "Bulldogs . . . And Proud Of It".
